

STERN

SEGURO

PRESENTS
THE GREATEST
WAR GAME
OF ALL:

STRATEGY

STRATEGY X

IT'LL BLOW YOUR MIND!

Even花生 would spend all his quarters attempting to advance through the four attack levels of Strategy X, Stern's latest tank attack video game.

1st Level—Defend against rotating cannons.

2nd Level—Warch out for attacking jeeps.

3rd Level—Careful! Here come attacking and shooting tanks.

4th Level—Rotating cannons, again, but this time against a moving background.

An audible signal warns that it's reflecting time. Enter a fuel dock and receive 100-300 points. The tank commander's life isn't an easy one.

Aside from an on-going battle, he has to watch out for obstacles and a rough terrain. Brick walls destroy tanks, although they can be shot away. TNT, after many shots, explodes when shot, but destroys all objects in the area. Stay off pink backgrounds. That's where the land minds are buried. They explode only on contact. Don't worry about a blue background, though. It's a slip road like an off-ramp and can be driven across. If an alien base is found and destroyed, advance to the next level of difficulty. You bet there's a "tug-of-war" feature on this one.

Strategy X. There's never been a war game like it. It blows minds—and quarters.
